GES has also successfully achieved and attained international accreditation through Cognia by embarking on a long-term continuous process for improvement.

INNOVATION:
GES recognizes the value in preparing and upskilling young learners for the new data-driven economy in the current economic climate and after the global pandemic crisis, new learning opportunities present itself as we review what today’s young learners will need to be successful. To empower the next generation of inventive problem solvers, a primary objective is to create an environment that encourages and guides students to develop a creative mindset. In pursuit of this objective GES has partnered with a leading educational institution to establish an innovation and research hub in the heart of Muscat. The innovation and research hub seeks to provide students with access to cutting-edge technological laboratories and foster a spirit of imagination and collaboration amongst young people.

OMAN’S VISION 2040
GES has made significant progress to achieve strategic educational goals to serve Oman’s future generation. A key aspect of its strategy is to provide young learners with the necessary practical and technical skills to become more independent thinkers and leaders. Several key initiatives and projects were successfully implemented, as recently Shomoukh Early Years Education state of the art building was officially launched in January 2022. The concept and design of the educational building is to inspire and encourage sustainable thinking and reduce its energy needs. A key element of the building design concept is to provide an outstanding teaching and learning environment for all learners and accommodate a range of learning techniques.
